19-22 March 2009– Eco-Products International Fair, SMX Convention Center

The Eco-products International Fair 2009, the largest international environmental fair and conference in Asia, was held last March 19-22, 2009 at the SMX Convention with the theme "Sustainable Production, Sustainable Consumption, Sustainable Future."

Organized by Asian Productivity Organization, Development Academy of the Philippines and the Philippine Business for the Environment, the event gathered the key international players and executives from leading corporations under one roof.

The fair featured eco-products, environmental initiatives, eco-services, environmental technologies and businesses.

Eco-products are made from improved raw materials, use less energy and resources and produce less waste and emissions. Eco-product use results in energy and resource savings, lower emission levels and reductions in waste and the need for waste treatment. Similarly, ViroFlow™ technology is environmentally safe to handle, simple to apply and a cost effective waste management and treatment alternative for the industrial community.
