BOSH VISIT 2011

The Occupational Safety and Health Center (OSHC) Philippines organized and conducted a Basic Occupational Safety and Health (BOSH) Training Course on June 27-July 1, 2011 and, as part of their program, the participants visited the JM Ecotech Solutions Co. site to help them understand better the importance of safety and health inspections in the workplace.

The company representatives warmly welcomed the participants of the BOSH training on the afternoon of July 1, 2011 and toured them through the different sections and services that the company has to offer, giving them a grasp of the technologies utilized by the company as well as the corresponding safety and health measures in place. The participants raised pressing questions on the relevance of safety and health measures as well as on the environment and working conditions of the personnel.

The Occupational Safety and Health Center was established by virtue of Executive Order No. 307 in 1987 as the national authority for research and training in all aspects of safety and health of personnel at work. The agency acts to improve workplace conditions in the Philippines. Functioning under the Department of Labor and Employment (DOLE), it aims to protect all Filipino workers from accidents and illnesses at the workplace and promote workers' welfare through effective programs that enhance productivity and well-being.
